

Style Guide

Consider this Style Guide a tool to refer to when using the Harley Street Medical brand.

On the following pages, each element is presented individually to showcase the brand’s detail and depth. When applied systematically, these elements create the sum of Harley Street Medical’s brand identity.

This document provides explicit instructions and rules for application, placement, and usage of the brand. Wherever possible, visual examples are shown to illustrate these rules.

In order to maintain a consistent voice and aesthetic, we invite you to review these guidelines when adapting the brand to new concepts, contexts, and applications.

HARLEYST MEDICAL

The Harley Street Medical wordmark is a custom typographic logo, designed specifically for this brand. It should not be altered in use.

Included in your Brand Program are color and white variants, organized for digital and print applications.

The assets labeled RGB may be used for any digital application, such as a website or other online graphics.

The assets labeled CMYK may be used for any print application, while those labeled PANTONE should only be used when spot-printing.

Each variant is set in three file formats: PDF, PNG, and SVG.

PDF and SVG are vector formats which are well suited for print and digital applications at any size or resolution.

PNG is a raster-graphics format best suited for digital images, especially those intended to be shared online. The PNG mark should never be used for print applications as doing so may cause distortion and other inconsistencies.

The Harley Street Medical monogram is a custom typographic mark, designed for use in applications wherein the wordmark is too large or revealing. This mark should not be altered in use.

Included in your Brand Program are color and white variants, organized for digital and print applications.

For instructions pertaining to color and format, refer to the guidelines outlined on Page 5.

We encourage you to become familiar with the proper placement of your logo, as displayed in the various examples provided.

Do not use the wordmark and monogram together. Never distort, stretch, or rotate the logo. Never fill with off-brand colors.

The color swatches illustrated form Harley Street Medical’s exclusive brand palette.

For use in digital applications, use the specified RGB or HEX color codes.

For print applications, use CMYK or PANTONE for spot printing.

The logo, whether wordmark or monogram, should be set in color when placed atop a white or ivory background and in white when placed atop a dark background or photo.

Never allow the logo to appear atop any color not specified in the brand palette outlined on Page 11.
